

CASH.—We must suggest to the advocates of the superior value of specie over paper, that they should send agents to correct the people of the South and West, who have all of them fallen into sad mistakes on this point. In Savannah for instance, a paper draft on New York for $100, payable ten days after it gets here, and then in nothing but paper, will actually sell for a hundred and one silver dollars. It is a shame that people should be so imposed upon. Specie has real, intrinsic value. It is the constitutional currency; it is the available currency; in short, it is real cash. Paper has no value. It is a mere representation of something, being itself nothing. Yet the people in Savannah have become so crazy, that for this nominal something but real nothing, they are paying away Jackson gold and silver, not dollar for dollar merely, but a specie dollar and a copper cent to boot, for a paper dollar. We appeal to Col. Benton and the Editor of the Globe, whether these rags bought not to be suppressed; for nothing is plainer than that specie can never be made to circulate between Savannah and New York, so long as the people are so strongly bent on circulating paper. And ask them to consider whether the state of the currency between these two places can ever be made sound, healthy and constitutional, unless at least a considerable quantity of the precious metals shall be occupied in passing back and forth.

N. Y. Jour. of Com.

Inhuman Cruelty.—The Bangor Whig says, we understand that a few days since, a man with a team bound from the country to Old Town, got out of his road, and applying at a house he came in sight of, for lodging, he was coolly refused, and directed by way of a path through the woods to his destination, said by the occupant to be six miles distant. The man departed on his way, cold and hungry, with hungry cattle, to make his way through a deep unbroken snow, a distance as it afterwards appeared, of twenty miles. The individual not having arrived as expected, a degree of alarm was felt for his safety; the owner of the team went in pursuit in a sleigh, and finally succeeded in tracing the track and overtaking the man just alive, and the oxen so weak as to be unable to proceed, both having been exposed to intense cold and hunger for more than two days and nights! Every thing the nature of the case would admit of was done for the sufferer, but his case is yet considered extremely doubtful.

An English paper tells the following curious story:—An inquest was recently held over the body of a young man in Bristol, (Eng.) named James Mitchell. Upon evidence it was stated, that the deceased had said to his sister, that people had often told him that he was too great a coward to hang himself. And to prove himself no coward, he had in a joke taken a string and fastened it around his neck as he stood on a chair and falling from the chair was actually hung. Verdict—Accidental death, caused by hanging himself in a joke.

Horrid Death.—We learn through a gentleman from Palmer the following case of suicide. Mr. Oliver Rogers, a person who for a period past has given unequivocal evidence of mental aberration, late in the night of Saturday, stole away from his bed fellow, a Mr. Webster, left his room, took with him a foot stove, went to the barn, ascended the hay-loft, set fire to the hay and perished in the conflagration. The body was almost entirely consumed when discovered. He had on the night previous attempted suicide by drowning, but the water was so cold as to cause him to desist. It was in consequence of this determination to commit violence on his person, that an individual was procured to sleep with him. The fire consumed the barn, a quantity of hay, a very valuable horse and eight cows. Rogers had in the pockets of his clothes which were left in his room, in money and notes, a sum varying a little from $3000.

Hamden Whig.

STEAM POWER VS. HORSES.—It is evident that in a few years, steam power will be applied to such a variety of purposes that the services of the horse, or the ox, will no longer be required. Dr. Lardner, in his excellent treatise on the steam engine, computes that there are above one million of horses engaged in Great Britain, in various ways in transporting passengers and goods, and that to support each horse, requires as much land as would upon an average support eight men. If this quantity of animal power were displaced by steam engines, and the means of transport drawn from the bowels of the earth, instead of being raised upon its surface, then, supposing the above calculation correct, as much land would become available for the support of human beings, as would suffice for an additional population of eight millions—or what amounts to the same, would increase the means of support of the present population by about one-third of the present available means.—The land which now supports horses, would then support men, or produce corn for food.

PHLEBOTOMY.—The Baltimore Transcript says, an affair came off in Light street, a few days since, that excited considerable merriment among the lookers on. A young man who fancied his honor insulted by a young medical practitioner, undertook to wipe off the stain by cowhiding the offender. The assailed made no show of fight, but bore the chastigation quietly, until finding that unlike Anteus, he grew weaker from every blow, he fled to a neighboring store for refuge. Bravo, Doctor! exclaimed a waggish bystander, stick to your fleebot-omy.

A SCRAP FOR DEBATING SOCIETIES.—At a debating club not far off, the question was discussed, whether there was more happiness in the possession or pursuit of an object? and was decided, no doubt in favor of the following: "Mister President," said the orator, "suppose I was courting a gal, and she was to run away, and I was to run after her; would I be happier when I caught her than when I was running after her?"

RESULTS OF EFFORTS IN THE TEMPERANCE CAUSE.—When the friends of Temperance commenced their labors in the State of New York, there were about twelve hundred distilleries; now there are about three hundred. Still there are many good men, slow in advocating the cause. We would ask them, whether they would wish efforts to cease? Whether they would wish to see the nine hundred distillery fires, now extinguished, rekindled? Few would wish it—still by their opposition they would seem to wish it.—Temp. Intell.

CRACK GOODS.—A maiden lady went into a store the other day to purchase a pitcher, and having inquired if he had any good ones, the store-keeper replied, "Yes, ma'am, I have some here that I consider real crack-pitchers." "Cracked ones?" ejaculated madam, "Lord, sir, do you think I would take cracked ware?" And liking her gown with an air of insulted dignity, she trotted off to another store.—Boston Herald.

Mormon Bank.—This concern, we learn from the Cleveland papers, has stopped payment. The Ohio City Argus says, however, that Jo. Smith will pay in real estate!—The amount of bills in circulation is said to be about forty thousand dollars.

VEGETABLE

Strengthening Plaster.

A SURE preventive for Gout, Rheumatism, pains and weakness in the Breast, Side, Back or Limbs if applied in season. It is also highly useful in liver complaints, dyspepsia, coughs, colds, and difficulty of breathing, giving relief by its warming and soothing qualities.

This article, which has been used more than 20 years, in private practice, during which time it has proved itself an invaluable article—is now offered to the public of superior merit.

In using this plaster, no interruption in regular habits is required, as it does not render a person liable to take cold—and being already spread upon soft leather, the trouble and vexation attending the spreading of plasters by persons unacquainted with, or having no convenience for so doing, are avoided.

Persons leading sedentary lives, or those whose business requires a bending or stooping position, and consequently are more or less troubled with pains in the breast, side or back, will find immediate relief by applying one of these plasters to the parts affected. Those afflicted with rheumatism will find most quieting relief in the use of these plasters, as they create a warmth and action to the parts to which they are applied.

The recommendation following is from one of our most respectable citizens:—

"I have been afflicted for many years with pain in my head, neck, and about my shoulders, by what is called 'nervous affection,' accompanied, as I suppose, with rheumatism; I have made use of many prescriptions, to little effect. Recently observing your advertisement of the Vegetable Strengthening Plaster, I obtained one which you kindly fitted to the neck and between the shoulders, from which I have derived a quieting relief, and would cheerfully recommend the article to persons who are afflicted with similar complaints.

Respectfully, BENJ. HASTINGS."

BALM OF GILEAD,

Or Reid's Vegetable Liniment & Electuary.

A MONG the many specifics now offered to the public, it will perhaps be hardly considered or admitted that another can be added with propriety. The subscriber having procured the above medicine solely for his own use, had never intended to have circulated it beyond his own family circle or neighborhood; but his experience of its salutary effects in innumerable instances, and the daily numerous calls from the Public, and the advice of his friends, render an apology scarcely necessary for offering it to the public, believing that they will find in it an invaluable friend, as a remedy for almost all external complaints, not only for the human species, but also for the brute creation. The immediate action and effect of it in many instances are perhaps unparalleled in the history of medicines. It will be found an invaluable medicine to be kept in every family as a ready remedy for almost all external complaints that families are subject to; such as burns, scalds, freckles, cuts, bruises, sprains, sores of almost every description, swellings, women's sore breasts, scrofula, ringworms, erysipelas, chills, crick in the back and all rheumatic affections, inflammations generally, and wounds on horses, cattle, &c. &c. and last but not least, it has been applied with extraordinary success to very badly inflamed eyes, and the effects in many instances have been so sudden and extraordinary that the subjects have for a while been in doubt whether to attribute the cure to the medicine or supernatural causes. It will be found an invaluable remedy to be kept by all persons who are liable to burns or scalds by their connexion with smith-shops, foundries, steamboats and steam engines generally.

Many certificates of the superior efficacy of this Liniment and Electuary might be procured by asking for, but we shall offer only a few, preferring that the public should prove the efficacy of it by actual experiment, which is the best evidence.

—Halifax, Jan. 10th, 1837.

I hereby certify that for three months past, ever since August last, I have been much afflicted with a lameness in the back; it at length became so severe that I could not walk. I made use of an Ointment prepared by John Reid, Esq., which effected a cure by three times applying it. I also applied it to the knee of a lad which was badly bruised and cut by a fall on the sharp and frozen ground or a stone; he could walk with great facility a few steps. After an application 24 hours I heard no more complaint from the lad. I have known a number of similar cures.

Attest, Rev. THOS. H. WOOD.

P. S. I cannot but believe that it would be very useful to be kept in every family—I do think that it is one of the most sovereign remedies for burns, scalds, &c. I would recommend to families always to keep it, and especially all persons who are exposed to burns from their peculiar situations.

T. H. W.

Mr John Reid.
Sir:—About the first of May last, I had the misfortune to be kicked by a horse on my right ankle, and after suffering the most severe pain for several days, my foot and ankle being badly swollen so that I was unable to walk several miles without difficulty. I tried many applications that were recommended, without effect. I at length procured a bottle of your highly valuable Vegetable Balm of Gilead or Liniment and applied it, and in the course of about two days the pain left me, the swelling entirely subsided, and I was enabled to pursue my regular business, and on the third day I walked several miles without difficulty; and I do not hesitate to say, that so far as I have been acquainted with the Liniment, that it is highly valuable for all wounds, swellings and bruises, and finally for all external complaints.

EMERY COLE.
Brattleboro, Vt. Jan. 7, 1837.

To John Reid, Esq.

Sir:—Some time in April last I had the misfortune to receive a severe blow (accidentally) from a heavy club, across the back of my hand, which caused my hand to swell in a few minutes to almost twice the ordinary size, and the pain was almost insupportable. By the application of a few drops of your Balm of Gilead or Vegetable Liniment in the evening, I found to my astonishment in the morning, my hand was well, the swelling having entirely subsided; I went about my business as usual and had no further trouble with it. I have since that time known many similar cures by the same medicine.

In conclusion, we say that whoever shall purchase a bottle of this Liniment, and after a fair trial, finds it not to answer the purpose for which it is recommended, may return it and receive his money. It will be put up in two ounce bottles, and warranted to keep any length of time.

Price 25 cts. per bottle. JOHN REID.

Thompson's New

Truss.

Unexampled Success.

WHERE this Truss has been introduced, it is taking the place of all other Trusses ever invented. Persons who have tried the most approved kinds heretofore made, will lay them aside and purchase one of these invaluable Trusses.

The following recommendation has just been received from Dr. Hall, of Vergennes.

This Truss, he says, is a great improvement over any thing that has hitherto been invented in the form of a Truss. The superiority of the above article does not consist in the ease and safety by which they are worn, only, but by proper adaptation will speedily effect a permanent cure of the Hernia. Numerous certificates to the above facts might be added, were it necessary, but a slight examination of these Trusses will convince any one that the great desideratum has at length been obtained, and this formidable disease is no longer a dread. I think therefore that all afflicted with Hernia or Rupture, and having a just estimate of the danger of delaying attention to it, will procure a Truss immediately and be cured.

A. HALL.

Vergennes, Oct. 1836.

I hereby certify that on commencing having this season, I was afflicted with a Hernia, which became so painful that I was obliged to quit work. I applied one of Thompson's Patent Trusses, with which I was enabled to labor daily, and found no more inconvenience in wearing it than in wearing my stockings. In three weeks I was perfectly cured, laid aside the truss, and have had no recurrence of hernia since.

GEORGE A. HALE.

Brattleboro, Aug. 1836.

Mr. Thompson, Sir—The Trusses begin to go well, having sold several. Having myself tried several trusses of various kinds, found no relief. But putting one of yours on the first of April last, in four weeks was entirely cured, and have not had occasion to wear any since; and I do not hesitate to say that in my opinion they will by the blessing of God, effect a permanent cure. Yours in haste,

L. M. AMSDEN.
